VOL. 1, NO. 2

WASHINGTON, D. C.

AUGUST-SEPTEMBER 1947

Thunderbolts Elect 1947-48 Officers

JAMES C. HANRAHAN
VOTED PRESIDENT

Thunderbolts unanimously elected twenty-two officers for a one year period at the Cleveland Reunion on August 16. A nominating committee representing the major units of the division prepared a potential slate of officers which was discussed at separate unit meetings. Colonel Robert H. York, former CO of 331st Inf, appointed chairman of the nominating committee, handled the election meeting and submitted each nomination to the body. The whole slate was elected without undue voting. The following men were elected to office:

James C. Hanrahan, 195 E. Bridge St., Berea, Ohio was elected first President of the 83rd Infantry Division Association.

VICE PRESIDENTS NAMED

Three Vice Presidents were elected: 1st Vice President—Gurney S. Jaynes, 1st Sgt, H Co, 331st Inf, now in C Co, 712th MP Bn, Army War College, Washington, D. C.; 2nd Vice President—William O. Shuman, Sgt in Hq Div Arty, Greencastle, Pa.; and 3rd Vice President—Ralph Neppel, Sgt, M Co, 329, holder of the only 83rd Congressional Medal of Honor, from Glidden, Iowa. At this point everyone present approved the suggestion that Mr. Neppel be made a life-member and that all of his expenses to the next reunion be met by the association so that he may attend.

Other Thunderbolts elected to office were: Secretary—Julius Ansel, special service non-com of 329th, 22 Wale St., Dorchester, Mass.; Secretary-Treasurer—Lt. Col. George W. Rhyne, commanding 83rd Signal Co, now with Personnel Division, War Department, Room 2E923, The Pentagon, Washington, D. C.; Secretary in charge of Publications—S/Sgt. Raymond J. Goguen, public relations sergeant for 329th, now with Hq Military District of Washington, Room 5B539, The Pentagon, Washington, D. C.; Asst. Secretary in Charge of Publications—John C. Neff, Major, Asst. Division G-2, now residing at 1058 Homewood Drive, Lakewood, Ohio; Historian—Thomas C. Roberts, Major, PRO for the division, Brewster Road, Massapequa,

FIRST ANNUAL CONVENTION
83rd INFANTRY DIVISION ASSOCIATION WAR II

Charter Memberships Reach 1000; 2000 Goal Set For Next Reunion

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The primary mission of our association is to keep firm the friendships and fraternal companionships that had their conception at Atterbury but matured and ripened through the thorough aging of war. Within our ranks, in peace as in war, there are rich and poor; Republicans and Democrats; lawyers and laborers; farmers and factory men; Protestants, Jews, Catholics and agnostics. The patch of the 83rd is big enough to shade and merge all differences.

Once a year we will meet in a physical sense at our reunions. Six times a year we will assemble through our association newspaper. For the rest of our lives I pray we will be together constantly in the pleasant grip of comradeship.

JAMES C. HANRAHAN

The 83rd Infantry Division Association, in operation for only five months, has already reached the 1000 mark in charter memberships. Everyone of us is to be congratulated but we shouldn't stop here. We must all remember what our President said at the reunion, when he urged that we all get in back of this organization and push the total over 2,000 before our next reunion.

John R. Skipp, 1957 Midway Drive, Youngstown, Ohio, formerly of 83rd Signal Company, became the 1000th member of the association when he attended the reunion at Cleveland. Mr. Skipp was more than happy when after registering he was informed of the fact. Present at the desk was Lt. Colonel George W. Rhyne, his former commanding officer, who was equally glad that the honor had fallen to a Signalman. Who will the 2000th member be?

The first Thunderbolts of the different units in the 83rd Division to become members of the association are as follows: 308th Med Bn—Adam F. Dormuth, Jr., 302 Button Ave., Painesville, Ohio; 308th Engr Bn—

Cleveland Reunion Success For 83rd

INDIANAPOLIS SITE
1948 CONVENTION

More than 600 members of the 83rd Infantry Division mixed liquids, legal matters, logistics and long-time friendships at the first reunion of Thunderbolts held at Hotel Carter, Cleveland, Ohio, August 15 and 16, the third anniversary of the liberation of the Brittany port of St. Malo, France.

Thunderbolts came to the convention from thirty-five states and France, by air, rail, automobile, motorcycle and even on foot. Some men covered more ground reaching Cleveland than they had dogged and shuttled over in Europe. Quentin Pease, Div Arty, made it from Pittsburgh, Kansas; Edward A. Shipman, E — 330, Provo, Utah; Claude H. Brown B — 330, Bellingham, Wash.; Walbridge J. Powell, G — 329, Overton, Texas; Isadore D. Serkin, F — 329, Miami, Fla.; and Richard V. Templeton, K — 329, Greenville Jct., Maine. Former French liaison officer, Jean A. Pages, temporarily in the United States, gave Paris, France, as his registration address. What 331 lacked in distance traveled was made up by members present.

From early Thursday, Aug. 14, until late Sunday, Aug. 17, Thunderbolt streaks flashed and clashed throughout the Carter lobby and mezzanine floors with outbursts of "Hey, you old dog, Why, you old son . . . , Well, if it isn't," and "I'll be hanged," as fox-hole buddies spotted each other. Some went European and exchanged warm embraces. For those of you who couldn't possibly make it, the whole scene was heart-warming, and one very difficult to describe.

Cleveland's Mayor Thomas A. Burke became a Thunderbolt favorite

BBC HONORS THUNDERBOLTS

While Thunderbolts celebrated at a rapid pace in Cleveland, an unexpected tribute was paid the 83rd Infantry Division by the British Broadcasting Company when Bob Barr, BBC correspondent with the 83rd in the ETO, broadcast a special message to the 83rd via short wave on Friday, August 15, the anniversary of the fall of St. Malo.

VOICE OF THE THUNDERBOLT

The first reunion of the 83rd Infantry Division Association is now history. This first Thunderbolt Convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, provided a good time for everyone concerned; but it was much more than a good time. It marked the resumption of one thing and the beginning of another.

What was resumed (if indeed it had ever ceased) were the invaluable ties of friendship, of true comradeship, which were born and nurtured in our midst from Camp Atterbury to the outskirts of Berlin.

What was begun was an organization which will make heard the voice of 83rd Division veterans from Maine to California who served valiantly in war and who will continue to serve their country in peace.

Overseas the Thunderbolts used to say this voice would be heard when they came home. The Association gives all Thunderbolts the means of being heard now. This newspaper is yours. Use it! Speak your piece in it!

THUNDERBOLT DELAYED

So help us, fellows, we've tried. But day after day, this issue of Thunderbolt has fallen further back in timing. Copy was plentiful, the Journal was ready, but the business of reknitting the Association after a week's vacation at Cleveland for the reunion was just too much. This, combined with the frantic conditions prevailing in the printing industry, (scarcity of newsprint, everybody's brother founding new magazines) has resulted in the Thunderbolt being two weeks behind time.

But we've made up for it. This reunion issue is twice the usual size; so in quantity, at least, you aren't losing out. We also know that names and addresses are what you want the most, therefore, we crowded over 500 of them in these eight pages. This policy will also prevail in all future issues.

If we can just get out from under the load here at Association CP, we'll try to improve the quality too, for Gilbert knows there is room for it. If anything needs polishing to your liking, just give us a good ripping and we will meekly correct things. We reserve the usual GI right, however, of mumbling under our breaths our reflections on the ancestry of the guy doing the ripping.

Caution your buddies who are not members that they have only eight months left in which to become Charter Members.

"Thunderbolt" wants photos and news items on every member.

Get your local chapters going.

"Thunderbolt" also needs unit correspondents for the 330th, 331st and Special Troops. Volunteers will please inform the Association by letter.

"He always comes down here to read dat paper."

No Thunderbolt wanted to attend the Cleveland reunion more than Major General Robert C. Macon, our Division commander. He had looked forward to it since June of 1945 when the old stand-bys started to leave the division. The General did, however, send us this inspiring message:

OFFICE OF THE MILITARY ATTACHE
 AMERICAN EMBASSY
 MOSCOW, U.S.S.R.

TO: The 83rd Division on the occasion of their First Reunion.

"Comrades of the 83rd Division, you who made the Thunderbolt a unit in combat-effectiveness second to none, I salute you.

Some cannot be present, except in spirit. In considering the glorious achievements of our Division we are always overwhelmed with feelings for those comrades who suffered and who died that we might succeed and live in freedom. Let us bow our heads for a moment in their remembrance.

(One full minute of silence was observed.)

For those who are present the pleasure of being together again and the mutual benefits that may result, while important, are not the only values of this meeting. This opportunity, which permits you to confer together, has significance to the nation. Your guiding influence is peculiarly important to the strength of our country.

In Cleveland you will talk over again some of the countless stories of these war experiences and tell each other what you have been doing since the war. Some of you may perhaps consider the personal cost of the war to you, and the value resulting to you from your efforts in the winning of the war. Was it worth it? Now, two years after the war, without seeing present conditions in other parts of the world, it is difficult to realize the great value of what we have in the U. S. Had we not gone to war and been victorious, we now, in all probability, would be existing under a dictator, ruling through fear engendered by a ruthless police force. Instead we enjoy freedom with by far the highest standard of living in the world.

To the question, "Was it worth it?" there is not the slightest doubt in my mind, for as much as I abhor the sacrifices and losses required of war, I know that our way of life is worth fighting for, over and over again.

Since the end of the war I have been looking forward to this reunion and it is with heartfelt regret that I cannot be with you today.

To you all, God's blessings and a happy, happy reunion, with the same old 83rd Division spirit."

Robert C. Macon
 MAJOR GENERAL, GSC

Cleveland Convention Notes

"Please extend my cordial greetings to the convention of the 83rd Infantry Division Association. From St. Malo to the Elbe, the Thunderbolt Division demonstrated conclusively that it had all the skill, elan, courage and devotion required for victory in battle. My warm good wishes to all of you, and a very happy reunion."

Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower
THE CHIEF OF STAFF

"Sorry I wasn't able to attend the reunion but hope it was a great success. Would like to attend the next one and would like particulars on it now."

Raymond Anderson

Indianapolis, August 20, 21, 1948.
Reunion Headquarters to be named in next issue.—ED.

"I regret profoundly my inability to be present at the first postwar reunion of the 83rd Infantry Division Association. This reunion is a tangible manifestation of your resolve that those bitter campaigns across Europe shall not have been in vain. It is truly gratifying to know that you who fought so valiantly in war are approaching present-day problems with the same spirit and resolution which characterized the Thunderbolts on the battlefield.

With best wishes to each and every one of you,

Sincerely yours,
J. Lawton Collins
LT GENERAL, GSC

"It was a great privilege to have been in command of the 83rd from activation day, August 15, 1942, until January 1, 1944. I saw you work and develop into a great fighting team. One whom I greatly regret I did not have the honor and privilege of taking into battle. Your accomplishments were great and well-known. You distinguished yourselves as I knew you would and to you I send my congratulations for a job well done. I wish everyone of you success in the future.

Sincerely,
F. W. Milburn
MAJOR GENERAL, U. S. ARMY
Commanding, 1st Inf. Div.

P.S. I regret also that I cannot join you and I wish to add to General Milburn's remarks my congratulations and best wishes.

Rinaldo Van Brunt
CHIEF OF STAFF

"I am very happy to send cordial greetings and good wishes to members of the 83rd. . . . Your combat record as a unit of the 12th Army Group is a proud one and merits retelling wherever men of the 83rd may meet.

Most of you, as veterans, have turned your thoughts and energies to civilian activities. Like your fellow-citizens throughout the nation, you are helping to restore the losses and damage of war. You are proving that free men can outbuild and outproduce, as well as outfight, those who suffer domination.

Sincerely,
Omar N. Bradley
GENERAL, U. S. ARMY
Administrator

"Regret exceedingly impossible for me to attend 83rd Division Reunion. Please express my greetings to all present. My kindest regards and thanks to the Division members, to you, and to Gen. Macon."

William H. Simpson
Formerly Ninth Army
Commander

"It was sure good to get that old familiar 'Thunderbolt' once again and to read about what is going on with our old buddies. I missed the reunion due to sickness in the family. At any rate, I want to say hello to all."

Mort Goldman

To 83rd Division World War II:

Many of you probably know that the 83rd Infantry Division has been reactivated on a reserve basis and now has practically a full complement of cadre strength officers and non-coms. All of these men are veterans of World War II, and are all enrolled in the ORC. They come from over fifty communities in Ohio and Indiana. The name 83rd Infantry Division is therefore constantly before the public.

As members of this organization, we want its World War II veterans to know that we are proud to wear its shoulder patch. We shall do all in our power to maintain the dignity and prestige which were achieved by all its veterans in two wars.

We extend to the combat veterans of the 83rd Infantry Division our congratulations and best wishes.

Sincerely,
Russell A. Ramsey
BRIGADIER GENERAL, ORC
Commanding

August and September

1942: The enlisted basic cadre from the 2nd Cavalry Division, officers from IRTC, Fort McClellan, Alabama, and 90-day-wonders from Fort Benning were the only men present on the 15th of August, 1942, the day that the 83rd Infantry Division was activated at Camp Atterbury, Indiana. "Fall out and line up," we heard, as we spilled out of troop trains. "You men are now part of the 83rd INFANTRY Division." This was the sharp greeting some bellied sergeant barked. An Infantry Division . . . Infantry . . . no, not that! Infantry meant tired feet, the same feet which later marched from the coast of Normandy across France, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland, Germany and over the Elbe just short of Berlin.

1943: Tennessee maneuvers ended on the 28th of August as a "cub" plane flew over the division area and blew its siren. With that wonderful news in mind we fired into the air every round of blank ammunition that we could find. The tired division gathered around Springfield, Tennessee, and took ten days of rest. Then came the memorable route march from Springfield to Camp Breckinridge, a trek of over a hundred miles. At last Breckinridge, and the only thing that stopped us from going over the hill was the announcement that 14-day furloughs would be given.

1944: The Normandy front had exploded, and we bounced from the inferno and zoomed into Brittany. It was like escaping from a coffin. On August 3, the push for the port towns of St. Malo and Dinard began. Part of the 330th went on to Brest with Task Force "A". By August 15, St. Malo, La Citadel, St. Servan, Parame and Dinard were ours. On August 17, Colonel Von Aulock, the mad man of the Citadel was in our PW cage with his garrison of 595 men. We combined wine, women, and warfare and the results were wonderful. Isle de Cezembre surrendered September 2. The Loire Valley in September, and the world-wide publicity given the Thunderbolts, made it a most pleasant month. Sam Magill, and his international platoon defied every known warfare code and 19,854 German prisoners became Thunderbolt property. What cameras! What loot!

1945: Thunderbolts were leaving mother 83rd for other divisions and category IV units, leaving but not forgetting. Those last minute handshakes, the 40 & 8 train rides to Assembly Area camps, the boarding of troop transports, were all wistfully performed and hearts were only lightened with the thoughts of home, the wife, the back to civilian way, and the good old USA.

34 STATES AND FRANCE REPRESENTED

Ohio and Pennsylvania represented almost half of the total (502) who registered at Cleveland for the 1947 reunion, but this had been expected. The amazing news was that thirty-two other states sent Thunderbolt representatives, and a good-size delegation from Washington, D. C. also showed up. Jean A. Pages, French liaison officer attached to the division in combat, made it from Paris, France.

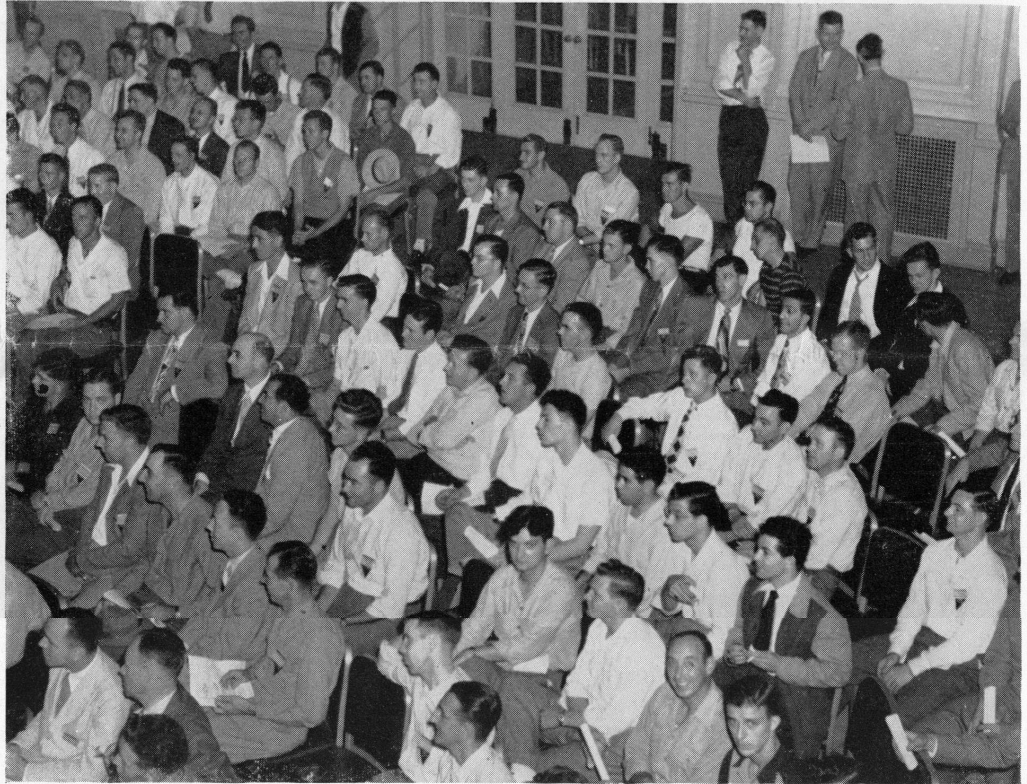

The breakdown is as follows: Ohio—127; Pennsylvania—95; Massachusetts—36; New York—36; Indiana—35; Illinois—27; Michigan—19; Connecticut—10; West Virginia—10; District of Columbia—10; New Jersey—10; North Carolina—9; Virginia—8; Tennessee—7; Rhode Island—7; Maryland—6; Georgia—6; Wisconsin—5; Missouri—5; Kansas—4; Kentucky—4; Texas—2; South Carolina—2; Delaware—1; Florida—1; Iowa—1; Maine—1; Minnesota—1; Nebraska—1; New Hampshire—1; Oklahoma—1; Utah—1; Vermont—1; Washington—1; Wyoming—1.

The heavy states represent good future reunion sites with cities like Columbus, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit and Washington, D. C.

CLEVELAND REUNION HIGHLIGHTS

James C. Hanrahan, Lt. Colonel, in charge of military government at division headquarters, was chosen President. President Hanrahan at one time was military governor of Naples before he was transferred to the 83rd. As a civilian he is vice-president and general manager of Scripps-Howard Radio, Inc., in Cleveland. Mr. Hanrahan, whose home address is 195 E. Bridge St., Berea, Ohio, is also the holder of seven Battle Stars, two more than the average Thunderbolt earned. With the 5th Army in Italy he saw action during the Naples-Foggia and Rome-Arno Campaigns.

First official meeting of the Thunderbolt Association was held in the Ballroom, Carter Hotel.

Gen Eddy Urges Universal Training

"The very heart of National Security is Universal Military Training," Major General Manton S. Eddy, War Department Chief of Information told Thunderbolts assembled in Hotel Carter's Rainbow Room August 16th. "Without Universal Training," declared General Eddy, the whole structure of security will fall!"

General Eddy reviewed at this first Thunderbolt convention the findings of the civilian commission on National Security appointed by the President and showed how Universal Military Training would on a six months plan, produce approximately 1,000 hours of basic disciplinary, basic weapons and basic specialties training to implement the National Security program.

In discussing the highly controversial Universal Military Training program General Eddy pointed out that the backers of this program were not seeking the means to wage a war, but the means to prevent one, "The only way we can secure world security at this critical time," he declared, "is through all out preparedness through a strong America."

CLEVELAND REUNION

when he opened the Friday morning business meeting by turning the city over to the 83rd, and really brought out cheers when he announced that a highway between Marietta and Cleveland had been dedicated to the 83rd Infantry Division, called "The 83rd Division Memorial Highway." General C. B. Ferenbaugh, Asst. Div. Commander presided at all of the meetings and Rev. Howard J. Schwartz, former 83rd (329) Chaplain, opened and closed each session.

Friday afternoon Thunderbolts boarded Cleveland Coast Guard ships and enjoyed rides along the Lake Erie shores. At 8:15 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Cleveland Public Hall, they witnessed combat pictures, some of which, were 83rd combat scenes in Europe.

83rd Div Nearest Berlin On VE Day

We knew it all the time, but proving it to other people was sometimes difficult. A Thunderbolt correspondent scanned the official pamphlet, Combat Divisions of World War II, distributed by Army Information Branch, Information and Education Division, War Department, Washington 25, D. C., and found the following information: "A race for the Elbe with an Armored Division wound up the campaign, (NINTH Army) the 83rd establishing a bridgehead on the Elbe south of Magdeburg, 54 miles from Berlin, nearest point to Berlin reached by an American unit."

Once over lightly for Friday night, for information on activities for this period is somewhat scarce. Company parties in rooms on all floors kept the Carter humming and bubbling long into the wee hours. The fat wallets got the Black and White, the conventional drinkers tasted Schenley. Jones' wife finally met "Shorty," who never shaved nor washed, and a helluva time was had by all.

On Saturday morning, the serious business of electing officers and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, took place in the main ballroom. Col. James C. Hanrahan, former 83rd Military Government Officer, now Mr. Hanrahan of Scripps-Howard Radio, Inc., was overwhelmingly elected President for 1947-1948. The city of Indianapolis, Ind., near Camp Atterbury, where the division received its basic training, was the popular choice as the place for the 1948 Convention. The time—the weekend of the third week in August.

GALA BANQUET

Saturday evening, Thunderbolts donned their neatest gabardines, tropicals, white shirts, and silk ties and gathered at the MacArthur Room for drinks before banquet time. At 7:00 p.m. in the beautiful and spacious Rainbow Room they sat down to a better than usual banquet and enjoyed a first-rate floorshow. Julius Ansel, from Boston, Mass., emceed the evening's program. The climax of the Convention was reached at 9:15 p.m. when the guest speaker for the evening, Major General Manton S. Eddy, Chief of Information for War Department, delivered a magnificent speech on Universal Military Training. By 10:15 the Convention was officially closed. Many veteran Thun-

Supporting Units To Join 83rd Assn

The 83rd Infantry Division Association has recently extended invitations to the 802nd TD Bn, 453rd AAA Bn, 172nd Med Bn, 774th tank Bn, 643rd TD Bn, and 736th tank Bn. The association is proud to include these supporting units who gloriously assisted us during combat in Europe.

To date we have received answers from Colonel George W. Trousdale, commander of the 453rd AAA Bn, and from Colonel Donald A. Curtis, CO of the 172nd Med Bn. Colonel Trousdale's answer was, I want you to know that it was a pleasure to serve under the command of the 83rd. I will be glad to do anything in my power to further this worthwhile association. Colonel Curtis wrote, Similar invitations will no doubt be extended to our outfit by twenty-two other divisions which we served during combat but we have accepted the 83rd's with the opportunity of reviving old memories.

Make your 1948 summer vacation plans include Indianapolis, Ind., on the third week-end in August, the 20th and 21st.

derbolts adjourned to their rooms and elbows were given more exercise but this time to a slower cadence; the 83rd Infantry Division Association's first reunion had come to a successful end.
