

THUNDERBOLT

VOL 2, NO. 1

WASHINGTON, D. C.

JANUARY-FEBRUARY 1948

AGF Records More 83rd Casualties

THUNDERBOLT KIAs
NOW TOTAL 3425

In the No. 3 issue of Thunderbolt—published last December, a story appeared under the heading of, "AGF Lists 83rd Battle Casualties". At that time, The Adjutant General's Office had compiled a roster of battle deaths of the 83rd Infantry Division which contained 3,401 names, as of 30 June 1947. Since then, the association has received a supplemental listing adding 24 more battle deaths thus raising the total to 3,425.

The type of casualty for these deaths falls into four groups, and are as follows: DOI—Died of Battle Injuries; DOW—Died of Wounds; FOD—Finding of Death; and KIA—Killed in Action.

The different units of the division suffered the following total deaths:

Hq Co 83rd Div	3
83rd Div MP Plat	2
783rd Ord L M Co	2
83rd QM Co	2
83rd Sig Co	2

Total.....	3,425

Secretary of Army Praises ETOTroops

American occupation troops in Europe, sometimes painted as drunken, lecherous, black marketeers, received a clean bill of health from a special investigator appointed by Secretary Royall. Orville J. Taylor, in reporting to the Secretary, said: "The conduct of American personnel in Germany compares favorably with that in any community of comparable population in the United States." One could scarcely expect more.

Thunderbolts Were Here

American 3d Armored Division tanks and 331st Infantrymen pass through the streets of Lierneux, Belgium, on their way to the front, February, 1945.

New York, Boston To Start Chapters

BURNS TO ORGANIZE
NEW ENGLAND GROUP

The cities of Boston and New York are ready to launch their respective chapters according to word received recently from 83rd Infantry Division Association Headquarters. The only operating chapter in the association is the one in Washington, D. C.

Robert J. Burns, 329th Infantry, 571 Mount Auburn St., Watertown 72, Mass., is the organizer of the New England Chapter with headquarters in Boston, Mass. Mr. Burns reports that he has mailed postcards to members in that area and that already he has received many favorable replies. No date has yet been set for their first meeting.

In a letter received last February, Edward L. Swartout, Chaplain in the 331st Infantry, 326 68th St., Guttenberg, N. J., announced that all former members of the 83rd Div. in the New York-Connecticut-New Jersey area were requested to attend an organizational meeting on April 3, at the 77th Division Club House, 28 East 39th St., New York, N. Y. Since then, no word has reached us and the outcome of that meeting is still a mystery.

Thunderbolts residing near these two areas are urged to contact these men personally or to write to the above addresses.

What happened to the fourth issue of the Thunderbolt? We are sorry to say, but the answer is—nothing. That issue could easily have gone to press with its four precious pages filled with trivia, but we felt that a delayed paper would be better than a poor one.

You now have received both the 4th and 5th issues in one mailing. In one of these you will find an up-to-date roster of every Thunderbolt who is a member of our association. (Those members who fall under the alphabet "A" appeared in the 3rd issue.) Also, on one of the pages you will find an application blank for membership to the association. Both the roster and the blank are in print for a very good reason.

The purpose is this—inspect this roster carefully and see how many of your old buddies are on it. Ah! That's just what we thought. Your fox-hole buddy is not a member yet. Now, the next thing you do is to clip the application blank and forward it to him along with a little pep talk on joining up with the rest of the gang. If all of the present members play this little interesting game our membership total should double itself before our second annual reunion in Indianapolis.

January and February

1943: The Mobilization Program which we had started in November of 1942 came to an end on February 9, 1943. During these weeks of basic training we drilled; we ran; we climbed; we fell; but, above all, we marched. How can we ever forget those long road marches with full-field equipment? A donkey could easily have broken down under the load which we carried. But basic training was over and seven day furloughs were welcome to most of us. We returned from our home towns, only to find that another phase of training called "Combined training", was underway.

1944: The infantry and the artillery were now training together. Doughboys of the rifle companies advanced carefully under the continuous cover of an artillery barrage. We were getting close to the real thing. Scores of planes swooped over our heads during this training and we were treated to demonstrations of dive bombing, skip bombing and strafing. We were getting close to the pay-off and we were now regarded as ready.

1945: Without any rest and after bitter fighting in the Hurtgen Forest and along the Roer River, we raced into Belgium. In the vicinity of Rochefort, we hit the nose of "The Bulge" with a haymaker and the advance of the spirited German Army was instantly KO'd. We slipped over to the shoulder of "The Bulge" and engaged a good share of the Panzer Army facing us north of the Bois de Ronce. With the 3rd Armored Division we fought relentlessly in biting cold for the small but important towns of Langlir, Petite Langlir, Bihain, Bovigny, Courtil and Honyelez. The war correspondents who visited us during this period, called our participation in the "Battle of the Bulge" as an almost impossible endurance test in physical stamina, in self-confidence, and in the individual courage of the doughboy. By January 22, we had cleared the enemy from the Bois de Ronce and had established a bridgehead across the Langlir-Rance River for the 3rd Armored Division to spring from, shoot down center and later cut the all-important Houffalize-St. Vith Highway. The 83rd was relieved, and moved back around the vicinity of Hamoir for a rest period. A secret move brought some of us into Holland, in the vicinity of Maastricht, and others near Liege, Belgium. Along the Meuse River we trained in river crossing tactics. Late in February, we moved again, this time into Germany and assembled in the area around Schaffenburg. The 330th Combat Team was attached to the 29th Division to launch an attack across the Roer River. On the morning of February 23, Operation "Grenade" was launched and the 330th quickly captured the German towns of Pattern and Mersch.

Top-Ranking Brass All NCO Grades May Give Up Stars Made Permanent

Some top-ranking World War II leaders—four-star generals and admirals—must either lose a star or retire before July 1 unless existing legislation is changed. The officer personnel and promotion laws passed last year put a ceiling on four-star jobs and both the Army and Navy are over their quota.

Gen. Bradley, Devers, Clay and Collins, plus General of the Army MacArthur now hold positions calling for four-star rank. Three others, Gen. Hodges at First Army, Gen.

The grades of almost a quarter of a million noncoms were made permanent by an Army directive that also stopped all temporary promotions for Regular enlisted men. The change marked a forward step in the enlisted men's career plan, which began last year with the announcement of a policy of job continuity in various career fields from private to the highest warrant-officer grade.

Handy at Fourth Army, and Gen. Clark at Sixth Army, must all revert to three-star status on July 1.
